

NELI 36th Annual Employment Law Conference: eWorkplace Policies Restricting Employees' Acceptable Use of Technology, Social Media and The Cloud

Chicago, IL

November 12, 2015 | Events

Adam S. Forman, Member of the Firm, will present "eWorkplace Policies Restricting Employees' Acceptable Use of Technology, Social Media and The Cloud," a session at the National Employment Law Institute 36th Annual Employment Law Conference, which runs November 12 to 13, 2015.

This program will provide analysis of key legal, IT and HR issues relating to workers' privacy and organizations' information-security as employers decide how intensely to restrict, monitor and scrutinize employees, applicants and litigants both inside and outside the workplace's physical and virtual walls, covering recent developments as to the ever-growing "Cloud," employers' rights to limit and act on employees' personal social-networking site (SNS) postings, implications and rewards of bring-your-own-device (BYOD), statutory prohibitions on forced disclosure of personal logins/passwords, litigation discoverability of SNS posts, photos and messages and compliant background checks.
