

The Cyber-Water Cooler: Your Employees Are Gathering at Social Media Sites, and What It Means for You

The Yale Club of New York
December 2, 2009 | Events

As more and more people turn to the Internet and social media sites — such as Facebook, Twitter and the like — to connect with the world, employers have legitimate reasons to be concerned about the information circulated through these channels by and about their employees and prospective employees. This program will address the legal issues raised when employers want to act on that information in the recruiting, hiring and disciplinary processes.

Epstein Becker Green attorneys James P. Flynn, Michael F. McGahan, and John Houston Pope will cover the following topics:

- How employers may become liable for employees' on-line activity, and how laws restricting employers from punishing employees for off-duty activities may limit employer options

- How federal labor laws may protect employees who use social media sites to organize or engage in concerted activity

- The risks and rewards involved in "surfing the Net" to learn more about prospective recruits, new hires and former employees raising claims against you.

We hope you will join us for this timely and informative briefing.

People

James (Jim) P. Flynn
Managing Director / Member of the Firm
Commercial and Contract
Litigation
Newark
973-639-8285
jflynn@ebglaw.com

Michael F. McGahan
Member of the Firm
Labor Management Relations
New York
212-351-3768
mmcgahan@ebglaw.com

The registration fee is $40. To register, please click here.

If you have any question about this briefing, please contact Christine Eschenauer at (212) 351-4668 or ceschenauer@ebglaw.com.

John Houston Pope
Member of the Firm
Employment Litigation
Tampa, St. Petersburg, New York
212-351-4641
jhpope@ebglaw.com